The year 2020 is characterized by the corona crisis – great uncertainty among the population, numerous losses in the trade fair business and stationary retail is also struggling with the consequences of the pandemic.

The special challenges for our industry were - on the one hand, the numerous cancellations of trade fairs, promotional campaigns and events and, on the other hand, new ways of communication and product presentation had to be found and expanded. Here, the partnership and creative cooperation of the individual companies was required.

All of this was only possible thanks to the solidarity, the constant growth in new challenges and mutual consideration – we are proud of what we have achieved together in this extraordinary time and are now looking forward to seeing and networking with partners, game enthusiasts and friends again Platforms in this special time.

Through all the setbacks and experiences, we have managed to outgrow ourselves and to be able to present a fully stocked games warehouse with all the beautiful autumn novelties. In addition to Ludo Pack, we have also increased our own storage capacities in order to be able to respond even better to customer needs. We are looking forward to a beautiful and hopefully stable autumn and an even more productive winter.

Information about editorial, dates and innovations around the industry, Hutter Trade and HUCH! find as heard on page 4.

Enjoy discovering our novelties!

Our autumn highlight from the popular "Rajas of the Ganges"-family: Rajas of the Ganges – The Dice Charmers. With this Roll & Write version of Rajas of the Ganges, players try to expand their province with the help of 8 symbol dice, collect goods and sell them in the market, win over influential personalities in the palace and sail up and down the river Ganges.

The base of the "Rajas of the Ganges"-family is the basic game, here the magic of India began in the era of the Mughal Empire. With the Rajas of the Ganges – Goodie Box #1 and #2, numerous expansion options have been created, which are compatible with the basic game.

What would the world be without toilet paper ?! In Captain Wonder Cape, even superheroes have to go to the bathroom! It can of course happen that the paper gets tangled up in your own superhero costume. Embarrassing, embarrassing – suddenly the beautifully fluttering cape is getting longer and longer, but unfortunately it is no longer completely pure. Face the tricky challenge – whoever has pulled the longest strip of toilet paper behind him wins the game and the title "Captain toilet brush".

The top values of the earth can be found in the TERRA original, see this in the new design. Nobody has to be there, which proves that the game principle of the predecessors TERRA and FAUNA – scores with political combinations and clever treasures.

Great turning and bidding mechanism:

With Fiesta Mexicana, nothing stands in the way of Mexican party fun! The special thing about it: The numbers on the player boards determine the bids and the places where the meal cards can be placed. If you cannot place a card, you can turn your player board by 90 degrees – and you have a new starting position with new numbers to bid!

Bluff and anger game for the whole family:

Who is brave enough to tease the tiger and throw a coconut at its head? Find out and slide hidden liana cards towards each other. Funky Monkey is a wild run-and-worry game for those who like to bluff and have fun.

Funny family fun to roll the dice:

While Jumpkin's skill and luck are required to get the right jump positions, the players at Rollo have to combine cleverly and meet as many requirements as possible in order to convince with this fun, easy-to-use Yatzee variant.

Our party highlight from America – What Do You Meme? – did not disappoint us with regard to the sales figures, on the contrary. The demand for the hit from the USA just overwhelmed us! That's why there is now a fresh supply for all MEME fans with the Fresh Memes #2 expansion.

We use the cheeky genre and stay up to date, because today Make Fake News Great Again is in the headline. Follow the example of heads of government to create your own Fake News and get your fellow players into a rage. Who brings the best news and becomes the headline hero?

Memocards offers a memory game with 3 instead of 2 matching pictures. Who can find the most triplets in the times and forms?

Who is the first to succeed in reaching the target fields with his cups? The target fields are in Jumping Cups, however, the opponent's starting fields at the same time ... Even if the opponent is blocked and can no longer move, the other player has won. In each turn the player may move one of his cups forward. The draw distance depends on how many cups are stacked on the field.

Every 100 years, important wizards and witches gather in Witchstone to use magical formulas and rites to renew the energy field of the legendary witch stone and thus conjure up the preservation and strengthening of one's own magical powers. Whoever shows the greatest skill in the occult procedure is appointed Master of the Hexenstein and thus gives his clan a special reputation.

Welcome to the Land of Dreams, where the world is constantly changing as players try to shape their surroundings. In Dreamscape, players have to collect dream fragments and use them to create landscapes through which they can walk. A successful night's sleep can only be maintained through constant optimization, spatial thinking and ingenuity.

So that the strategy game Dreamscape doesn't cause sleepless nights, four expansion sets are appearing at the same time:

Will'O the Wisp – The tales of the ancients mention tiny creatures waiting for a benevolent soul to show them the right way.

The red raven – lurks hidden in the shadows. You can feel his oppressive closeness but you can't shake him off! It's time to face it.

The dream shapes – slip into the dream world in the form of cute animals. Some are smart, some are playful, but all are different.

White as snow – the snow has invited itself into dreams. You can stack it, let it melt under your feet or slide it a little further with its help.
